3 Generations

working together in local family business!

REGAL HOUSE, a privately owned furniture store first opened it's doors in 1988 at Kings Highway Plaza in New Bedford Ma. It was founded by Albino and Maria Santos, their son ,the late Steven Santos and daughter Debra Santos Holden.

Paige Santos (right) of Rochester works alongside her aunt, Debra Holden (President) also from Rochester.

In 1991 due to their growing success, Regal House started to look for additional warehouse space. They found what they were looking for at 965 Church St. and the building and land were purchased to accompany the need for warehouse space. In 1993 they increased the building size at 965 Church St. to 40,000+ square feet and the showroom and warehouse came together under the same roof.

REGAL HOUSE is much more than a retail furniture store today. On site certified interior designers are available to assist customers in the showrooms or at their home, (yes still making house calls) bringing the latest in designs, fashion trends, colors, upholstery and fabrics. They also assist in paint selection, area rugs, and new this year custom window treatments.

Today, you can spot three generations, Maria, Debra and Paige (while on summer break from college), working throughout the store. They are proud of their 27 years and staff of over 23 local employees which include their own in house delivery team.

So please if you've never visited REGAL HOUSE FURNITURE, please stop by and discover for yourself how a hard working and dedicated staff have been able to sustain a local business for three generations. If you have visited in the past, please come in and see what is new and the changes we have made. Most importantly to our many loyal returning customers, We Thank You Very Much.

Ripe and Ready – The Dry Harvest

By Jean Perry

The word for the year is 'dry'. Dry dirt where once was water; parched pastures, waterless skies, and dusty earth.

Water is one of those things nobody really thinks about until not much of it is there for us to do with it what we want, when we want. Meanwhile, impatiens grow leggy and lackluster and hydrangeas wither during the at-first voluntary, but now mandatory, water ban on non-essential outdoor watering.

Think of Tri-Town's present-day generation of farmers and growers with the ebbing reservoirs at the dawn of harvest time. Consider cranberry growers, especially, whose annual cycle of bog flooding, cranberry floating, and berry catching hinges on enough rain over the next week or so to regenerate reservoir supplies surrounding their crop.

But the drought conditions have not left the cranberry grower completely high and dry in any way. Again, the keyword here is 'dry', and the dry harvest, which has been ongoing since the middle of this arid September, is in full swing – with or without water.

And it's a good thing, too. Certainly dry picking is laborious and tedious at times, with the manual labor of walking with the old mechanical Furford round and round the perimeter of the bog circling at lengths in a slow spiral toward the center, plucking and picking and plunking into burlap sacks that only hold enough berries for about the length of 20 to 25 feet of bog before the operator must pause to unload a full sack and replace it an empty one.

The Johnsons – Dana, Paula, and their two sons – have been pirouetting around the bogs, their stage for this annual harvest dance of the cranberry grower, dry picking their 30 acres of bogs located in Rochester, their hometown, and neighboring Middleboro.

The Johnsons' bogs, which have remained in the family for four generations now, like many bogs in the region, produce year after year the livelihood of the Johnson family. They painstakingly participate in the cyclical life of cranberry growing: pulling all-nighters during frosts in the spring to keep the bogs from freezing, irrigating throughout the summer until harvest time, and keeping close watch during the winter months to be sure the low-lying vines stay safe from frostbite.

"From bud to berry," said Dana. "You miss one frosty night and that's your whole year's pay.... The only time we're really relaxed is after the harvest."

As the Johnsons dry picked their bogs on the morning of Monday, September 27, the dried-up irrigation ditches that outline and zigzag the acres of cranberries and the dwindling depths of the surrounding water reservoirs had no influence on what was being done that day, for there is no need for water during a dry harvest. In fact, water would put a damper on the whole operation, delaying it until dry conditions returned again. And at a pace of about an acre a day, time ticks pretty loudly when you're dry picking.

Dry picking is the Johnsons' preferred method, selling their harvest as fresh fruit instead of the 'wet pick', which is sold for juices and sauces. Fresh fruit sales are more lucrative, said Dana, making the more time-consuming work worth it.

"It's easier to flood," said Dana, "there's much more labor to dry pick." But at this time, dry picking in such dry weather conditions is actually preferred, as opposed to the wetter weather for the wet harvest – for which conditions certainly are not very accommodating

On the Cover: September is the start of the cranberry harvest and, with such dry conditions, dry harvesting the berries is ongoing despite depleted water reservoirs that bog-flooding for wet harvesting requires. On the bogs belonging to Paula and Dana Johnson of Rochester, their berries are seen here tumbling through the mechanical Furford as the couple circles the perimeter of the bog, spiraling in towards the center and gathering as many berries as possible before flooding the bogs later, hopefully with a replenished water source. this point in the year.

"This year, almost everyone is hurting for water," said Dana.

Although the dryness has affected the crop – to some extent causing variations in size and color – there is still some time for the climate to further enhance the berries.

"Cold, crisp air and sunny days like this," said Dana. "That's what colors them up nice."

Dana has been doing this since he was 17, and he'll be doing it for the rest of his working life, likely, until his sons take over.

"It's a nice way of life," said Dana. "And it's nice to be your own boss."

But Paula, said Dana, she was always the nucleus around which all the Johnsons' aspects of cranberry life revolve.

After all, behind every good cranberry grower, Dana says, is a good woman. And as they dry picked the morning away on Monday, Paula literally was there behind him, picking up with her identical Furford the berries that Dana missed, together dancing the dance that is the life of a cranberry grower.

He went to Rochester Memorial School as a child and eventually graduated from Bishop Stang. Like many Tri-Town students, he moved on to college, earning his bachelor's degree in elementary education and then his masters in special education at Endicott College. But where Mello went next in life isn't something the average 24-year-old often chooses.

Mello joined the Peace Corps and set out for Burkina Faso, a land-locked country on the southern border of Mali and the northern border of Ghana in western Africa. He was assigned to work at a preschool (bisongo as it is called there) in the village of Gogo and arrived in June 2015.

"I've had an interest in the Peace Corps since I was young," said Mello in an email correspondence. (Phone access and Internet access is a challenge where Mello currently resides). "It fit in with my career/life goal of wanting to be helpful. I also looked up to my dad and his friends who were in the Peace Corps and did work in the international community. The opportunity presented itself a few years back, so I decided that I'd go for it."

Mello spends his days working at the preschool from three to seven hours a day. He wakes up and feeds his cat in the morning, and then after work he studies, fetches water, rides his bike, charges his laptop at the police station or local NGO, and works on other projects. But now he has a bigger project in mind, and with a little help from back home, he might just get it done before he returns to Rochester in June.

At the bisongo, there are some pretty serious problems. Although it might not sound like a big deal, the fence surrounding the bisongo is trampled down and the front gate is broken. This lack of a proper enclosure has led to a number of issues for the staff and students at the school. People who don't belong there come and go, and stray animals enter in, damage equipment, leave disease-transmitting feces all over the grounds, and even sometimes enter the classrooms and interrupt the class.

"The preschool's teachers at the preschool stressed the need for a proper barrier the first time I saw the school grounds," said Mello in a press release he shared. "I asked them if they would want to replace the fence, and they correctly responded that a new fence would be insufficient, since a new fence would not last; they wanted something better."

Mello has worked with his local contact NGO to devise a plan and concluded that a wall would be the best option to effectively enclose the school. A price tag of $11,000 for a 2.1-meter high wall, though, is a formidable cost for the village.

"There would be many positive outcomes for the preschool if we are able to get a wall built around the school," said Mello.

Teachers could leave supplies safely in the school without the threat of being stolen. The grounds could be cleaned-up and kept clean and sanitary, and playground equipment could be repaired without the threat of further damage. The latrine could be fixed and kept intact, and a garden could be created and protected sufficiently enough to provide a benefit to the entire community. But most importantly, outside forces would be kept from interrupting the teaching and learning process for the village children.

"The community would now have a functional meeting place," said Mello.

The people of Burkina Faso, Mello says, are welcoming, kind, and seem to freely express their senses of humor. Although there have been some cultural and language barriers for sure, Mello has found himself at home there.

"I'm hoping to help my preschool get to a point where they function successfully and independently," said Mello.

You can help Mello achieve that goal by contributing any amount towards the project by visiting www.peacecorps.gov/donate, clicking on "Projects and Funds," then clicking on "Education" and then "Burkina Faso/Bisongo Wall for the Bisongo in Zoundweogo." The project still needs $7,759 to meet the goal.

DaRosa Loses Superior Court Appeal

By Marilou Newell

On September 19, Plymouth County Superior Court upheld the decision of Mattapoisett's director of inspectional services, Andy Bobola, when he reversed his decision to grant a building permit to Daniel DaRosa for the construction of an extended pier over an easement. DaRosa's residence is located at 3 Goodspeed Island and known as lot 28 on the assessor's map.

The court's decision indicates that when Bobola looked further into the regulations allowing a building permit for accessory structures, he realized that another lot separated DaRosa's property from water access. That additional lot is known as lot 28A and is owned by another party, not DaRosa.

The decision reads in part: "Initially on August 4, 2014 Andrew Bobola had certified compliance. However, subsequently on May 5, 2015 Bobola issued a revised statement saying that the project would not be in compliance with local zoning requirements and recommending that the licensure be denied."

Another point made in the decision indicates that courts have ruled that municipal zoning bylaws carry significant weight noting, "The local zoning board is also entitled to deference because of its special knowledge of 'the history' and purpose of its town's zoning bylaws."

In a follow-up interview with Mattapoisett Town Administrator Michael Gagne, he said that DeRosa could appeal the court's decision, but felt it was a significant process and one that would have to go before an appellate court.

"They would have to show misinterpretation or use of faulty law ... and the court may not hear it ... they could say that all other appeals have not been exhausted," Gagne said.

Gagne also said that without the building permit, the Chapter 91 waterways license could not move forward.

"The building permit and license are bootstrapped together," he said.

DaRosa's attorney John Gushue, when asked for a comment regarding the decision responded, "My clients and I do not have a comment at this time. We are reviewing the judge's decision."

A copy of the decision in full can be viewed on The Wanderer website at www.wanderer.com.

Rochester Board of Selectmen

The Fall Special Town Meeting warrant has been signed, sealed, and delivered, and on September 26, the Rochester Board of Selectmen sat with the Finance Committee to say 'yay' or 'nay' on recommendations for the eight articles.

Both the selectmen and the Finance Committee voted to recommend Article 1 to appropriate $10,000 to cover the cost of contracting a company to tidy up and codify the town's bylaws.

During discussion over the article, FinCom Chairman Kristian Stoltenberg said former Town Administrator Michael McCue first brought the matter up as a priority, but the article was skipped over at the last town meeting when the only company to bid on the project was prepared to offer the town far more services for a higher cost than the town needed or could budget for.

Planning Board Chairman Arnold Johnson, present that night, requested that a representative from the Planning Board and the ZBA be allowed in on the bid selection process, which Selectman Brad Norse concurred was the right way to go. Selectmen Chairman Naida Parker said the cheapest and simplest method was the way to go.

Article 2 to fund a new air-conditioning system for the police station passed with no issues, with Stoltenberg stating that although the FinCom had initially approved funding for temporary repairs to the current system, he acknowledged that the A/C would not last another summer. The amount of the article, which the FinCom along with the selectmen recommended, is $27,000.

Article 3 is for supplementing four separate department projects: $1,500 for the town clerk's office to restore permanent record books from the 1800s; $4,800 for money already spent on police station A/C repairs; $3,100 for a fire protection system at Senior Center; and $17,725 to cover an unforeseen increase in town insurance rates. Selectmen and the FinCom both recommended the article.

As for Article 4, the Finance Committee chose to refrain from taking a vote to either recommend or oppose $20,000 to fund a town hall/town annex study, preferring instead to hear what residents on Town Meeting floor would have to say about it.

"I tend to agree with him," said Parker, although she was overruled in her position by Morse and Selectman Richard Nunes, who voted to recommend the article, with Parker abstaining from the vote.

Article 5 sets aside $32,000 to cover potential contract settlements with the town's union personnel – contracts that will soon be negotiated. Selectmen and Finance Committee members recommended the article, unanimously. Everyone also recommended Article 6 to restore $67,000 back into the stabilization fund, which comes from FEMA reimbursements that finally were paid to the town to cover the winter of 2014.

The Finance Committee abstained from voting on Articles 7 and 8 as both of them pertained to the personnel bylaw.

Selectmen recommended Article 7 to amend and simplify the language pertaining to the process in which employees can file grievances and Article 8 to prolong the employee probationary period from three to six months.

The Fall Special Town Meeting is on October 17 at 6:45 pm at Rochester Memorial School.

In other matters, Town Administrator Suzanne Szyndlar said progress towards securing the electric cars and charging stations via grants the town has received from the state has been slowed, as the town continues to seek affordable bids.

The next meeting of the Board of Selectmen is scheduled for Friday, September 30, at 10:00 am at the Rochester Town Hall meeting room for the tax classification hearing with the Board of Assessors.

Mattapoisett Conservation Commission

By Marilou Newell

A superseding order or conditions, long-standing discontent over stormwater drainage issues, and two sets of engineering firms and legal counsels resulted in a long hearing for two conjoined applications during the September 26 meeting of the Mattapoisett Conservation Commission.

A notice of intent filing by Leslie Keselli and Whitney Renault (aka the Henderson Family) trustees for Grande Vue Beach Trust, 14 Bay View Avenue, and a request for an amended order of conditions filed by Grand Vista LLC, 23 Grand View Avenue, Brandon Westley of Hopkinton, brought together parties who have been attempting to resolve long-standing property issues.

represented the Hendersons. The two attorneys said that their clients would be submitting new notices of intent and a plan to 'de-link' the two properties from the single order of conditions that had been issued years ago. The attorneys said by separating the two properties, the Hendersons could then get the modifications that would improve environmental conditions on their property. The proposed concept seemed agreeable to the commissioners."

Both counsels were once again present as Al Ewing of Ewing Engineering presented plans for the Henderson's NOI and David Davignon of N. Douglas Schneider & Associates represented Westley's request for amended order of conditions.

Ewing explained how grading of the Bay View lot would diminish stormwater ponding, which has long been a problem while not creating drainage issues on abutting lots. He also went into detail regarding the applicants' request to make improvements to revetment areas along a coastal beach.

Davignon then presented his case for an amended order of conditions for the Grand View lot that adjoins the Bay View parcel. He said that changes to the irrigation system, installation of a well, and revetment improvements to match Bay View would fix drainage issues without causing additional water problems for surrounding lands.

Davignon's presentation brought the majority of the questions posed by Mattapoisett Shores neighbors and invested residents of the private beach community. Paul Silva, 11 Bay View Avenue, wondered if moving irrigation pipes from one location to another wouldn't prove better than the directional flow proposed by Davignon.

Silva contended that by simply changing that one aspect, the roadway would be spared possible stormwater damage in the future. After consideration, Davignon took that under advisement as a possible solution.

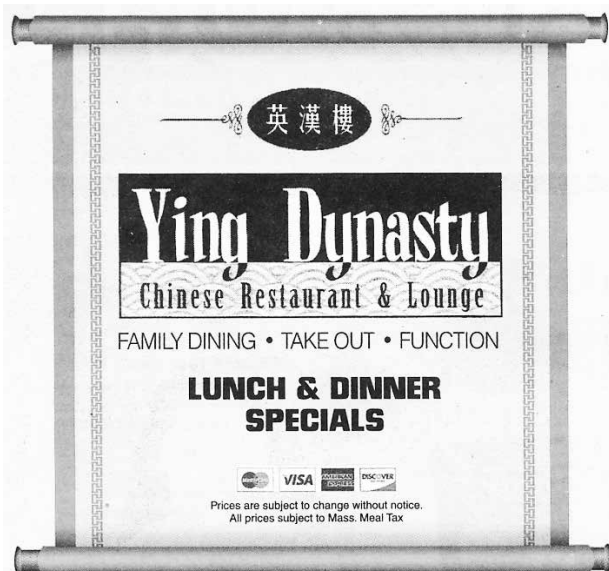

Ewing heard from Lee Estes, a decades-long resident of the beach community, who aired concerns about the beach revetment plans that included the placement of large boulders for the purpose of protecting the two properties in question from wave action. Estes said that the stones and boulders would make walking the beach difficult.

Chairman Bob Rogers asked all parties to consider a continuation until the next meeting to give Davignon and Ewing sufficient time to update plans based on public hearing feedback and to give the commission time to consult with the Department of Environmental Protection to ensure that revetment plans were allowed so close to coastal beach resources. Both hearings were continued until October 12.

In other business, certificates of compliance were issued to Sharon Thompson, 9 Cover Street; Jay Duker, 112 Aucoot Road; and William Macropoulos, 12 Howard Beach.

Negative determinations were issued to Justin

Complaints Filed Against Rochester ZBA

Rochester Zoning Board of Appeals

By Marilou Newell

During the September 22 meeting of the Rochester Zoning Board of Appeals, Chairman Richard Cutler and board members David Arancio, Richard Spirlet, and Tom Flynn discussed complaints that have been lodged against them to the Office of the Attorney General by Cathy Mendoza, 32 Hiller Road – complaints alleging violations to the open meeting law.

Mendoza's complaint alleges that open meeting violations occurred during one of several public hearings regarding a special permit for Wellspring Farms and on a second occasion when there was the presence of a ZBA quorum during a site visit to the farm located at 42 Hiller Road.

Mendoza and several other abutters to Wellspring Farm have complained bitterly about noise and loss of peaceful use of their residential properties due to commercial activities on the farm.

Owned by Jim and Holly Vogel, Wellspring Farm has been operating since 2000 as an experiential mental health facility for children with compromised cognitive abilities. Neighbors had complained of increased traffic to and from the Vogels' property, loss of privacy and use of their outdoor spaces due to clients' vocalizations and close proximity to boundary lines, and smells from large manure piles.

During several ZBA hearings, abutters and the Vogels, along with supporters of Wellspring Farm, came out in force as the Vogels sought to have a special permit for the operation of a commercial business in a residential area heard. The Vogels prevailed and on September 8, they received a special permit with restrictions.

The complaints were received in the building department office on September 15.

The first complaint reads in part: "Specific persons alleged to have committed violation – Chairman Richard Cutler, David Arancio, Kirby Gilmore, and Davis Sullivan; violation description – three members of the ZBA scheduled an on-site visit." However, four members were present constituting a quorum. Mendoza contends that discussions took place with Vogel on his property and that deliberations occurred outside a public hearing. Date of alleged violation was August 25, 2016.

The second complaint lists the following alleged violation: "Specific persons alleged to have committed violation – Richard Cutler, and town counsel Blair Bailey; violation description – town counsel suppressed public discussion of items publically requested by Chairman Cutler." Date of said violation was August 26, 2016.

Cutler responded to these complaints by saying, "I don't understand the open meeting violation ... there was no discussion on site, only questions and answers...." He went on to say, "Ms. Mendoza made the comment that people had been looking at her in her pool. I asked where was the pool ... I couldn't see it." Cutler said he also asked Vogel to show him the manure location.

Cutler asked the board if they would like to seek legal representation in this matter. They voted in favor of seeking the town's legal assistance.

In other business, a hearing for a special permit to convert a single-family dwelling to a multi-family dwelling that was filed by William Milka, 241 New Bedford Road, was continued until the next meeting of the ZBA.

The next meeting of the Rochester ZBA is scheduled for October 13 at 7:00 pm in the town hall meeting room.

Local B&B Still Waiting for ZBA Decision

Marion Zoning Board of Appeals

By Jean Perry

Once upon a time there was an innkeeper in Marion who wished to increase the number of bedrooms at her bed and breakfast from one to three. Seemed like a simple enough request to Kate Hill, 460 Front Street, since the Marion Zoning Board of Appeals had already granted her the first permit for the two existing bedrooms and the bylaw allows a maximum of three.

So, back in August, Hill went on her way when the ZBA closed the public hearing to take the matter under advisement. After she was gone, the board engaged in further discussion on the matter, voicing skepticism over the accuracy of Hill's recount of her B&B operations.

The board members huddled around Chairman Marc LeBlanc holding an iPad as they browsed two websites and concluded that perhaps Hill was already renting three bedrooms, maybe even a fourth. And, with the public hearing already closed and Hill unable to speak to the board's assumptions, the board adjourned the meeting with the information they accumulated to vote on the matter at a later date.

It wasn't long before Hill read in the newspaper about what transpired after she left. She wrote an email to the ZBA and, with legal counsel, asked for the public hearing to be reopened in order to seek further legal counsel on the matter.

On September 22, Hill returned before the ZBA with Attorney Richard Schaffer to address the board's prior post-public hearing comments, explaining that one of the rooms is only used for four months out of the year due to poor insulation; during the eight colder months, the room is sealed off and another room would be rented instead, currently considered a sewing room. That room would be used as the third bedroom during colder months.

"I was not here at the last hearing," said Schaffer. "It sounds as if the board was a little off-center with respect to the issues, at least as I see them here."

Schaffer cut right to the chase, saying that Building Commissioner Scott Shippey made the request that Hill simply provide him with a monthly report detailing which rooms are in use once the ZBA approves the third bedroom. Furthermore, Schaffer said the third bedroom and the inn is not a detriment to the neighborhood, and the inn also complies with the criteria listed in the bylaw.

"I think we meet every one of [the criteria] and we should be able to move forward and increase the use," Schaffer stated.

Board member Betsy Dunn brought up the assessors' records, which say the house only has four bedrooms, not including the bedroom Hill and her husband share on the bottom floor that was formerly a family room.

"So you have five bedrooms," said Dunn.

"We're not going to be relying on the Board of Assessors (for this legal matter)," stated Schaffer.

The board determined that it has 90 days until it had to make a decision once the public hearing was closed. After a few long-ish periods of silence and pauses for thought, the board chose to continue Hill's public hearing until the next meeting so that Shippey could attend and give the board his opinion on the matter on his own behalf.

Another discussion ensued as to whether Hill should be able to rent her entire house, like many do on popular networks such as Airbnb, since Hill is a business operating under a special permit and others are simply residential homes.

"It doesn't seem right to me," said ZBA member Kate Mahoney. Other ZBA members voiced similar opinions.

The next meeting of the Marion Zoning Board of Appeals is scheduled for October 13 at 7:30 pm at the Marion Town House.

Tabor Academy Accepted into Independent School League

Tabor Academy Update

By Jack Gordon

Last week, Tabor Academy accepted an invitation to join the Independent School League (ISL), the oldest and one of the most competitive independent school athletic associations in the country. The school will officially join the league in the fall of next school year.

The ISL was founded in 1948 as the "Private School League," with the help of founding member and former Tabor faculty member James Gowing. The league is comprised of 16 private schools in the Greater Boston area, all of which utilize a teacher-coach system throughout all of their varsity and junior varsity athletic programs. At its core, the ISL is committed to integrity, sportsmanship, and leadership in all of levels of competition.

"This is a group of schools that understand the key role athletics can play in student learning, and which works hard to create the best possible competitive and participatory athletic experiences for students – within the strong academic programs we all share," said Tabor Head of School John Quirk.

The opportunity to join the ISL arose when St. Paul's School of Concord, New Hampshire decided to leave the league after 43 years in favor of becoming a member of a Six School League with five other major New England independent schools.

"We applied to join the ISL because we believe that doing so will create better, more satisfying and more meaningful competitive learning experiences for our student athletes," said Conan Leary, Director of Athletics, in a press release from the school. He explained, "ISL schools tend to be fierce competitors and there are tremendous and fun rivals in the group. However, it is rare for that competitiveness to over-shadow some essential truths: that it is in the process of competition, not its outcome, that student athletes best grow."

For years, Tabor has had interest in joining the ISL, which Quirk describes as the "premier athletic and educational association in New England." When applying for membership, a full team of Tabor administrators, board members, alums, and both current and former members of the athletic administration pitched in to shape a successful application.

"It was Tabor's reputation for excellence, I think, that really made it happen," said Quirk.

The ISL will provide substantial improvements to the athletic experience for student athletes at Tabor. On a practical level, the close proximity of the schools and defined structure of the league allows easier scheduling of athletic contests and less travel time for athletes and coaches. The bus rides to schools in Connecticut and New Hampshire, which often last over three hours one-way, will now be largely replaced by frequent visits to schools not much farther than an hour away.

From a competition standpoint, the ISL will provide a more competitive yet supportive environment for athletes at all levels of play. The longstanding reputation of excellence held by the ISL is one that Tabor will both benefit from and contribute to, adding its own flair of athletic philosophy into the mix.

While senior and tri-varsity student athlete Martha Peppes will never get the opportunity to experience Tabor athletics as a member of the ISL, she still feels honor and satisfaction for the acceptance.

"I am so thrilled that Tabor student athletes will be able to compete against such great teams," said Peppes. "The ISL has always put forward teams of hard work, sportsmanship, and talent, all three things in which I believe Tabor imbues in its student athletes. When you see an ISL team on your upcoming schedule, it is always guaranteed to be a good game."

Over the years, Tabor teams have competed against ISL teams in just about every sport. While facing off against an ISL team will be no new event for Tabor student athletes, the ability to compete for league honors and championships will be something no current member of the Tabor community has done.

At Tabor, where being a member of an athletic team during more than one season is not only recommended but required, the decisions made affecting the athletics at the school can have a positive influence on each member of the school community. Because of the strong relationship between academics, athletics, and community at Tabor, membership to the Independent School League creates a ripple effect into all parts of life at Tabor. For other member schools as well, the acceptance of Tabor into the league means acceptance of Tabor's beliefs, actions, and culture into the collective body of the ISL. While pushback is seemingly eminent with a decision as major as this, there was noticeably a lack of such pushback in this acceptance.

"There are not many decisions I'm involved in that seem to have complete unanimity in them, but this felt that way to me," said Quirk. "Both here at school and out and about New England – there was only excitement at the prospect of Tabor becoming part of the ISL."

According to the school's press release, "Tabor looks forward to hosting league contests and tournaments in its excellent traditional facilities (the Travis Roy Rink, the Fish Center for Health and Athletics, the G. Richard Duffy '56 Turf Fields), while sharing some of the unique settings the school enjoys (Buzzards Bay for sailing and Kittansett Club in Marion for golf)."

The girls also played in a close game on Monday against Dighton- Rehoboth, winning three out of the five sets played. fourth set was really close, with the Bulldogs only losing by two points (28-26), but they redeemed themselves in the fifth with a 15-8 winning set. The players to watch in this game were again Mitchell (one ace, 15 digs and 30 assists), Collings (12 kills, 11 digs and one ace) and Vercellone (five aces, six kills and three blocks). On Friday, the Lady Bulldogs faced Sturgis West and claimed a 3-0 win. Mitchell made her mark again on the court with nine assists and two aces and junior Molly Tobia also contributed with nine assists and one ace.

Field Hockey: The girls played two tough teams this week: Dighton-Rehoboth and rival Apponequet. On Wednesday, they faced Dighton-Rehoboth and came out with a 0-0 tie. The Lady Bulldogs dominated in the second half and some of the first, but just couldn't put one in the net. On Friday, they faced Apponequet and suffered a tough 1-0 loss. Boys' Soccer: The boys' soccer team had another tough week yet again, losing 2-0 to Dighton-Rehoboth on Wednesday and losing 5-1 to Dennis Yarmouth on Friday. Hopefully, the boys can get out of this four-game losing streak and start hitting the back of the net.

Golf: The golf team played Case on Wednesday with a solid win. They also played Dighton-Rehoboth on Thursday with a tough 171-148 loss at the Bay Club. Collin Fitzpatrick shot a 37 for 32 points; Jason Gamache shot a 39 for 28 points; and Alex Henrie shot a 41 for 24 points. The Bulldogs then faced Bourne on Friday with a 170-101 victory. The top golfers were Henrie who got 34

Do not stand at my grave and weep

Do not stand at my grave and weep;
I am not there. I do not sleep.
I am a thousand winds that blow.
I am the diamond glints on snow.
I am the sunlight on ripened grain,
I am the gentle autumn rain.

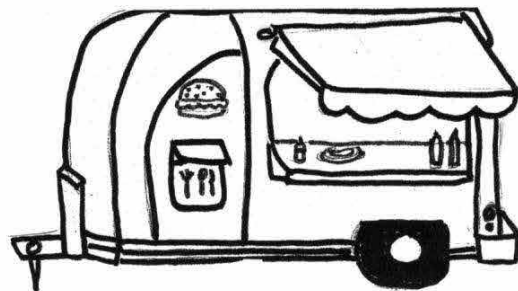

When you awaken in the morning's hush,
I am the swift uplifting rush
Of quiet birds in circled flight.
I am the soft stars that shine at night.
Do not stand at my grave and cry;
I am not there, I did not die.

Girls' Cross Country: The girls raced in a tri-meet on Tuesday against Greater New Bedford Voc-Tech and Case, winning both 15-50. Senior Avery Nugent came in first place with an outstanding time of 20:50. Samantha Ball came in second with a time of 21:28 while Madison Martin followed closely behind to come in third with a time of 21:35. Sophomore Claire Noble Shriver placed fourth with a time of 23:31, and Victoria Maclean came right behind in fifth with a time of 23:56. It looks like the girls have yet again another shot at getting the SCC champs title with their outstanding 4-0 record.

Boys' Cross Country: The boys also ran in the tri-meet on Tuesday beating GNBVT 19-43 and Case 15-50. ORR's Adam Sylvia was the winner with a time of 17:57. Evan Tilley came in third with a time of 18:36.

Football: The Bulldogs knocked down reigning SCC champs Dighton-Rehoboth on Friday with a 19-9 win. Harry Smith started the scoring with a nine-yard run for a touchdown, which put the Bulldogs up 6-3. Then in the second quarter, quarterback Cam Hamilton also ran it into the end zone for another six points, which put the Bulldogs up 12-3. Hamilton then completed a 66-yard pass to Grant Rueter who carried it to the end zone for another seven points with the field goal from Landon Goguen. The boys improved their record to 3-0 and are ready to face Seekonk on Friday.

Below are the overall fall team records, followed by the conference records in wins, losses, and ties as of February 8.

The Route 6 Rivalry and the Traveling Trophy

By Kathryn Collings

The Old Rochester Regional Lady Bulldogs vs. The Wareham Lady Vikings has been a 'Route 6 rivalry' for years.

This year, the girls' volleyball coaches from the two teams thought it would be fun to create a traveling trophy to solidify the rivalry.

"Something to look forward to – not a championship, but a casual prize that will be on the line twice a year," said Coach Matt Bisso.

The 3-foot golden trophy with a volleyball player on the top of a loving cup appears to be more than 'casual' and will be a coveted reward for years to come.

Wednesday night was the inaugural game for the Route 6 Rivalry Trophy!

The gym in Mattapoisett was full. Both teams are young, with Old Rochester graduating 11 seniors last year and Wareham leaning on their sophomores with their excellent passing.

The Lady Bulldogs were dominant in Game 1 (25-13) and Game 3 (25-16), but Game 2 had 13 ties and 8 lead changes with ORR winning (29-27).

"The intensity in game two felt like a playoff game" said Wareham's Coach Ben Kaeterle. "We are building our volleyball program. We are playing with higher intensity and the girls are determined and dedicated."

But it was the Lady Bulldogs who made the historic first hoist of the new trophy!

ORR's Coach Bisso and Jimmy Oliveira, and Wareham's Coach Kaeterle, remember playing on New Bedford High's volleyball teams. The New Bedford Whalers would play the GNB Voc-Tech Bears for the City Championship trophy at their twice-a-season scheduled conference games.

Coach Oliveira said he remembers, "...How excited the players would be for those games. It gave us something to look forward to!" He added, "The coaches thought it would be a fun reward for the neighboring SCC matchup."

The next Route 6 Rivalry game will be at Wareham on Monday, October 17 at 6:00 pm.

Dear Editor:

The Plumb Library Summer Program officially concluded with an All School Meeting at RMS on September 16. Over 135 children, and several teachers, were "awarded and applauded" for their participation in the national "On Your Mark, Get Set, Read" program. From June 20-August 20, kids aged 4-14 read over 2,600 books and completed 1,000 library challenges. All participants received a unique Bruins certificate, a Read and Roll bookmark from Carousel Family Fun Center, and a special recess from RMS. Thanks to the Rochester Lions Club, all kids who read four or more books received a medal. In addition to recognizing the kids, adults who participated in the Exercise Your Mind program were also applauded for reading 340 books and completing over 100 challenges.

The success of our program is directly due to the families who participate and the state and local community organizations that support us. It is very important to Plumb Library to make sure our supporters know how much we appreciate their help. We extend special gratitude to all of the following:

The Collaborative Summer Library Program (CSLP), Massachusetts Board of Library Commissioners (MBLC), Massachusetts Library System (MLS), and the Boston Bruins provided us with a national theme and all the materials to support it. (The Bruins also sponsor "When You Read, You Score" prizes. Winners will be announced at the end of September.)

MLS provided several libraries with Wandoo Reader, a technologically-advanced, highly-interactive reading and challenge logging system with a gamified element. Plumb was one of 150 MA libraries chosen to pilot Wandoo Reader to attain patron feedback. Kids especially loved building their robots with energy credits earned as they logged books. Families who weren't able to visit the library appreciated that Wandoo provided online library activities to keep kids participating.

Locally, the Friends of Plumb Library, Rochester Lions Club, Rochester Cultural Council, and the First Congregational Church (who let us use their Hall) allowed us to bring performers to Rochester. The Rochester Cultural Council funded Marvelous Marvin's Brain Circus. The Rochester Lions Club brought us Toe Jam Puppet Band and an awesome Ice Cream Music Party. The Friends of Plumb Library supported two Pinto Bella Hula Hoop Shows – one for kids and one for teens / adults, plus Todd Brodeur, local Frisbee champion.

We are fortunate to work with fantastic patrons and community partners who greatly helped us either with programs or prizes. The ORR CFCE, together with Ms. Lisa and the Jr. Friends of Plumb Library – Allison, Brenna, Bridget, Ella, Emma, Lindsey, Rebecca – conducted a week of STEM experiments for young children. Each week in July, Ms. Marsha demonstrated animal yoga moves at her Studio 105. She also provided a Rest and Relax program for adults. Ms. Nancy Sparklin donated her time to present a weekly Music and Movement Class at the library. Thanks to Jr. Friend Allison Winters, children were read stories after the Music and Movement Class as part of our "Reading Buddies" project. The Buzzard's Bay Coalition partnered with us to get families to explore the outdoors and learn about the Buzzard's Bay region's animals, plants and habitats with "Family Fridays" in July. In regards to prizes, families were able to select a free book each week thanks to patron donations. Kids could earn participation prizes thanks to Carousel Family Fun Center, Kool Kone, the Rood Family, Plumb Market, Town of Rochester MIIA, Rochester Police Department, and the Friends of the Library. Adult weekly prize packets were funded by the Friends of the Library.

As always, special thanks to the Plumb Library Staff and to all the children and adults who actively participated in our programs. Special kudos to the families who joined as whole family units. Check out

Dear Editor:

As the school year begins, our thoughts turn to what we hope young people will learn this year. As parents, teachers and others concerned with health, let's be aware that youth are being targeted by the tobacco industry. Big Tobacco is sweet talking our kids with products that are sweet, cheap, and easy to get. Fruit and candy flavors in little cigars, chewing tobacco, hookahs, electronic cigarettes and e-liquids attract youth and contain varying amounts of nicotine that can lead to nicotine addiction.

In 2009, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration wisely banned flavored cigarettes (other than menthol) because of mounting evidence that the tobacco industry was using flavors to market to youth. Since then, the tobacco industry has been producing other tobacco products using the same flavor chemicals found in candy and soft drink products like Life Savers, Jolly Ranchers and Kool Aid. Yet they are NOT harmless. The tobacco industry is using these flavors to attract youth to products that are highly addictive because they contain nicotine.

In fact, the U.S. Surgeon General found that tobacco companies use flavorings in smokeless tobacco products as part of a "graduation strategy" that encourages new users to start with flavored products with lower levels of nicotine and work their way up to more addictive products. Now the tobacco industry is circumventing the federal ban on flavored cigarettes by producing these other flavored products to establish a new route to addicting youth to nicotine.

What can you do? Talk with young people about this. Make sure they know that these tobacco products contain nicotine and are not harmless. Back-to-school season is a time when youth are learning new and important information for the first time; as concerned adults, let's make sure they learn that flavored tobacco products contain nicotine.

For more information about these products and to learn how you can take action, visit GetOutraged.org or contact me at kawilbur@sevenhills.org or 774-634-3955. Big Tobacco is trying to sweet talk our kids into a lifetime of tobacco addiction.

To the Editor:

Beginning in mid-August, all of Marion's municipal electricity has come from wind. If you've driven to the Cape lately, you'll have seen the four new turbines spinning along Rte. 25 that are generating clean power from wind energy. Marion's Energy Management Committee (EMC) sparked the agreement that brings this renewable electricity to our town, saving the Town a bundle of money – at least $80,000 per year. Not only are we now spending less on electricity, but the power from these turbines is reducing fossil fuel use by about 12,000 tons of coal per year, or enough electricity for about 2200 homes. In a world of gloomy headlines, this good news is a breath of fresh air.

This windfall can be leveraged to save the Town even more money by investing in projects to increase our energy efficiency. The EMC has proposed that half of the savings be used to create an Energy Efficiency Fund to pay for Town projects such as converting street lights to LEDs, replacing old boilers and air conditioners with new energy-efficient units in Town buildings, and buying or re-leasing the Town's electric vehicles when their leases expire. Each investment idea will require approval by the Board of Selectmen, Finance Committee, and/or Town Meeting.

The Warrant for the Marion Special Town Meeting includes an article to authorize the Board of Selectmen to petition the General Court to allow some of the savings from our wind-generated electricity to be reinvested in further energy-efficiency measures that will save even more money. Please come to Town Meeting at 6:45 pm on October 24 at the Sippican School and vote "AYE" on Article #5. Let's keep Marion sailing toward a greener future!

Dear Members of the Board:

This letter will serve as a notice of my retirement from the position as Principal Clerk in the Veterans Office for the Towns of Mattapoisett, Marion, and Rochester effective November 25, 2016. It has been an honor to be an employee of all three towns.

I would be remiss if I didn't thank the former Veterans Agent Harvey Blanchette for hiring me back in 1991. I would also like to thank the Town Administrators, Members of the Board of Selectmen, Barry Denham, Melody Pacheco, Members of the Veterans Council, and the Massachusetts Department of Veterans Services for their assistance over the years.

I will truly miss all of my wonderful co-workers in each town. Most of all, I will miss my veterans and their families. I admire and respect each and every veteran for their selfless service to our country. It has been an honor and privilege to have served them over the past 25 years.

My parrot only like the sunflower seeds in her seed mix. How can I get her to eat the other seeds.

I equate an all seed diet to an all white bread diet. Ok, in the short run, but severely deficient over time. Seeds lack vitamin A and a number of essential oils.

What should I feed my parrot?

Feed pelleted bird food. It looks like dry dog or cat food but much smaller, and its formulated for birds. To this add fresh fruits and vegetables. Offer the seeds for 10 minutes in the morning and 10 minutes in the evening and leave the pellets, fruits and veggies available for the rest of the day.

congratulate the 2016 recipients of the John R. Pandolfi Scholarship. Since 1962, the Tri-County Music Association has been working hard to bring quality music to the community and to assist local youth in achieving dreams of doing the same. Proceeds from ticket sales and generous donations are distributed annually to a competitive selection of young people whose talent and ambition serves as an inspiration for the Tri-County Symphonic Band. We encourage you to follow us on Facebook and visit us at www.tricountysymphonicband.org to find our concert schedule, make a donation to our scholarship fund, and find our scholarship and summer study grant applications.

Each year $12,000 is distributed among college students, each receiving scholarships worth $1,000-$1,500. For high school students, summer study grants are awarded to assist with the cost of excellent music camps and lessons, such as Tanglewood Institute, Berklee College of Music, the New England Conservatory, and many more.

This year, we congratulate college students Michael Bliss of Mattapoisett (New York University), Travis Bliss of Mattapoisett (New England Conservatory), Kyla Dubuc of Taunton (UMass Amherst), Lauren Hart of Dartmouth (Crane School of Music), Michael Raposo of Somerset (The Hartt School of Music), Angela Reed of Fall River (Rhode Island College), Ryan Sander of Mashpee (The New School), and Zachary West of Plymouth (Cleveland Institute). We also congratulate our outstanding high school students who received summer grants: Haley Cobb of Plymouth (Tanglewood), Timothy Fortin of Seekonk (Jazz in July at Amherst), Jadyn Gonsalves of Dartmouth (violin lessons), Jason Ho of Seekonk (piano, sax and theory lessons), Bjorn Kydland of Taunton (trumpet and piano lessons), Madison Lamothe of Centerville (Torggler Summer Voice Institute), Mia Quinlan of Mattapoisett (Music Institute at Rhode Island College), Robert Taft of E. Falmouth (UNH Summer Youth Music School), and Maxxon Wolski of Mattapoisett (Berklee Music Production Camp).

Without the attendance and donations of a large group of supporters, none of these scholarships or grants could exist. Please join us at Lyndon Auditorium on November 25, 2016 for our Scholarship Showcase Concert to hear some of our scholarship recipients play their favorite selections.

Gateway Youth Hockey

Squirts: The Gateway Gladiator Squirt team continued their strong play with two wins this weekend. On Saturday, the team faced off against Duxbury and fought to a 12-2 win. On offense, Tommy Clavell led the team with five goals and an assist. Brayden Cannon, Brayden Hathon, Liz Kilpatrick (2), Ben Hebbel, Kevin Place, and Patrick Tripp all contributed goals. The Gladiators followed up Saturday's win with their toughest test of the season against Pembroke on Sunday morning. The team got great goaltending from Ryan Killion and strong defensive play from Mike Brown early on to help hold on until the offense was able to mount an attack in the second and third periods. Cannon led the offense with five goals while Hebbel and Hathon each had one goal in the 7-1 win. The goal scoring was supported by a great passing game led by Bree Killion, Kilpatrick and Clavell, all with two assists and Place with one assist.

Pee Wees: Gateway Gladiators Pee Wees had their season opener on Saturday versus KP Walpole. Matthew Paling put Gateway on the board followed by a goal from Ty Rebeiro and one from Nate Ribeiro with an assist from Lucas DeMoranville. Walpole and Gladiators were both playing a defensive game, but Rebeiro was able to score two more with assists credited to Ribeiro and Jacob Hebbel. Paling came in to find the back of the net one more time assisted by Rebeiro. Ryker King had a phenomenal game in net, also facing a penalty shot to secure the shut-out, ending the game 6-0.

On Sunday, it was Gladiators Pee Wees versus Barnstable for an early morning game. Gladiators were ready to go and Rebeiro, unassisted, put Gateway up less than 15 seconds into the game. Soon after, he added another assisted by Connor MacLeod. Paling added one with assist from MacLeod. In the second, Lucy Murphy found the net assisted by Ribeiro, Rebeiro added three more goals with assists from Matthew Stone and Lucas DeMoranville, and Joe Urnek added another for the Gladiators assisted from Ribeiro. In the third period, Gateway was still receiving a pressured game from Barnstable but kept skating. Ribeiro scored a goal assisted by MacLeod, Urnek got two more, both assisted from DeMoranville, and Stone put one up with assist from MacLeod. Thomas Leger had a great game in net with a final score of 12-1.

Bantams: Although the 8-3 score may not reflect it, the Gateway Gladiator Bantams faced their toughest challenge of this young season on Sunday against a feisty Plymouth team. The Gladiators were short handed at the start of the game, causing some shuffling of the lines, and Plymouth took advantage, scoring the game's first two goals. With the Gladiators down two goals, Quirino doCanto stole the puck in his own end, skated through the Plymouth team, and beat the goalie for his first goal on the day. Plymouth would erase that goal a few minutes later, moving their lead back to two goals. The Gladiators would pull within a goal when Tyler Lovendale found the back of the net on a feed from Robert Maloney and doCanto. Defenseman Will Goldman would tie the game with a wrist shot from the blue line, deflected in past the goalie, with assists going to Zach Barris and Ethan Carpentier. The second period ended in a 3-3 tie, but just 10 seconds into the third Lovendale put in the go ahead goal, assisted by Maloney and doCanto again. The score would remain that way until a power play with 58 seconds, when doCanto would go on a scoring frenzy. He would score three goals in less than 40 seconds, assisted by Liv Fryer on one and Lovendale on two, while the other was unassisted. Lovendale put the exclamation point on the game with an unassisted goal just before the buzzer sounded. Alex DeMarco had an outstanding game in net, making 13 saves.

If you have changed your address since the last time you voted, you must make that correction by October 19 as well, and can do so using the same means as above.

This re-registration is especially important on Election Day since you will be asked to identify yourself at the polls by your address first, then your name. This is a new procedure and one that has proven to be more efficient for the poll workers and thus a time-saver for you.

Finally, if you wish to enroll as an unaffiliated – formerly independent – voter (no specific political party), you should check the No Party box on the registration form.

As the League has said for many years, “Democracy is not a spectator sport,” so be sure you are registered and prepared to vote on Election Day, Tuesday, November 8.

Marion Cultural Council

The Marion Cultural Council needs your help! We need the people who live and work here to help advise us on how to best allocate public dollars for programs and activities in the arts, humanities, and interpretive science.

As you may know, our all-volunteer, municipally appointed council receives an annual allocation of approximately $4,400 to fund projects by individuals, organizations, and schools that serve a broad range of interests and needs.

Because we distribute public dollars, it is essential that we gather local public opinion and learn more about what is happening in our community and what the community needs. This will help us develop useful criteria and funding priorities to guide our grant-making decisions.

MOVIE REVIEW

Playing the Sap

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

The Maltese Falcon* (1941). Starring Humphrey Bogart and Mary Astor. Directed by John Huston. Running time: 101 minutes. Playing at the Brattle Theatre in Cambridge, October 3 - October 6.

Humphrey Bogart's Sam Spade is a likable bastard, someone you might come to with your troubles but not with your power of attorney. Sam is a private detective in San Francisco on the cusp of wartime (the movie was released about two months before Pearl Harbor), dealing with shady characters of various and vague nationalities. The Maltese Falcon is less about Dashiell Hammett's plot than about the interplay of cynical villains and anti-heroes, and first-time director John Huston (who also wrote the script) was savvy enough to know that. The Maltese Falcon itself is, as Sam might say, hooley; it's what Hitchcock liked to call the MacGuffin, the thing nobody has that everyone wants.

This is a great American entertainment, and might lay claim to being the best directorial debut of 1941 if not for a modest little film called Citizen Kane. As it is, The Maltese Falcon more or less inaugurated film noir as it came to be known in Hollywood, even though Huston doesn't do all that much show-offy with the lighting or compositions — his effects are subtle, a sturdy cage enclosing a menagerie of creatures. Aside from two scenes dealing with the murder of Sam's partner Archer, the movie stays confined to offices and hotel rooms — it's claustrophobic, with the boxy Academy format hemming everyone in further. At times we seem to be viewing the world through a keyhole — the movie turns us into detectives.

A woman calling herself Ruth Wonderly (Mary Astor) drifts into Sam's office, speaking of a dangerous man threatening her sister; there is no sister, and no Ruth Wonderly either — her real name, or at least the one she settles on, is Brigid O'Shaughnessy. Sam pegs Brigid as trouble from the start, yet still develops feelings for her, and is self-aware enough to be bitterly amused by them. There's a reason Sam didn't quite turn into a running character for Hammett (he appeared in three other short stories) — he's less a serial hero than a flawed portrait of wisened-up urban manhood, complete with the prejudices of the day. He enjoys slapping around Joel Cairo (Peter Lorre in his iconic American role), whose homosexuality was more explicit in the 1930 book, and he enjoys needling the touchy thug Wilmer (Elisha Cook Jr.) by referring to him as a "gunsel," which pointedly did not mean what the squares of 1930 or 1941 (or 2016, possibly) thought it meant.

Cairo and Wilmer work for "fat man" Kaspar Gutman (Sydney Greenstreet), who yearns to possess the titular bird statue, or "the dingus" as Sam dismissively calls it. By this point in the narrative it hardly matters what the Falcon is or what it's worth. All these vipers want it, and Sam says he can get it, but he's just weaving his own web of deceit. The Maltese Falcon is a comedy-tragedy about liars (the only straight shooter in the movie is Sam's secretary Effie, played as a wry sunbeam of morality by Lee Patrick); the comedy derives from the sharp back-and-forth in the dialogue, as the liars assess each other and figure out who knows what and what can be gained, and the tragedy is bundled in at the end, when, as Danny Peary pointed out in his Guide for the Film Fanatic, one character goes quickly to Hell, while Sam goes more slowly but will get there sooner or later.

Seventy-five years old on October 3 (when it comes to the Brattle in Cambridge for a four-day 35mm screening), The Maltese Falcon feels evergreen, not so much in style or attitude but in mood. It was the first of five films Huston made with Bogart, though I'm not prepared to say it's the best — The African Queen and especially Treasure of the Sierra Madre pose hefty competition. It is, though, the movie from which a lot of blessings flow; its influence may feel fainter in this era of romcoms and caped crusaders, but look for it and it's there. Its calloused urbanity comes from Hammett, its cheerful cynicism from Huston, its peculiar human gravity from Bogart, that odd, tooth-baring presence who excelled at men with dark corners but who was seldom less than compelling. Huston sets about surrounding this man of gravitas with a circle of moral gremlins, all of whom try their best to steal the picture (Lorre comes closest) while Bogart heavily stands his ground and fends them off not with a gat but with a gibe and a sneer.

Meet Sassy who has spent 16 years taking care of her humans and for many years was a fixture on the Mattapoissett wharves. Originally purchased by Mattapoissett ACO Kathy Massey, Sassy was then acquired from Massey when she was just a few weeks old by Arthur and Irene Frates. More than a decade later, Sassy still provides love and tenderness to the remaining members of her two-legged family, Arthur and Irene's son, Robert, and his wife Elizabeth. Rob and Elizabeth feel "blessed" and call Sassy a "saint." Photo by Marilou Newell

Medicare and Medication

From $0 to $48 a month, just like that. This is what someone just realized they would have had to pay with the changes to their stand-alone drug plan. Luckily, that person was able to find a better plan to keep their costs down. How? They met with a S.H.I.N.E. Counselor at the Council on Aging, and so should you. Chances are you may not really know if you need your insurance changed unless you have a review of your current plan, and there is only a small window of time to check on it. The Medicare Open Enrollment Period is October 15 to December 7 (Changes will take effect on January 1).

On Tuesday, October 18 from 4:00 to 5:00 pm, there will be a comprehensive insurance presentation by regional representatives from S.H.I.N.E. (Serving Health Information Needs of Elders) at 17 Barstow Street, Mattapoisett (COA entrance). It is highly recommended that anyone 65+ (or who will be) attend this session. Call the Mattapoisett COA at 508-758-4110 to reserve your spot at this session.

If you cannot make this session, you may also contact your local COA and ask for a trained S.H.I.N.E. Counselor who will call you back to assist you with any of the following:

- Change from original Medicare to a Medicare Advantage Plan and vice-versa.
- Switch from one Medicare Advantage Plan to another Medicare Advantage Plan.

TriTOWN HAPPENINGS

It's cranberry season in Southeastern Massachusetts. With drought conditions, dry harvesting the berries has started largely unaffected by the lack of water thus far, but bog flooding later in the season could be affected if water sources are not replenished with rain. Paula and Dana Johnson of Rochester are in the midst of their dry pick, circling the bogs, one after the other, day in and day out with their mechanical Furfords and burlap sacks to harvest the cranberries fit for fresh fruit sale. SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You'll soon have a chance to take a big step up from where you are to where you want to be. Check it out first. Remember: Even the Mountain Sheep looks before it leaps.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) This week brings a challenge that could determine the future direction of your life. If you're ready for a change, accept it with confidence. A loved one supports your decision.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A disruption creates a delay in completing your projects. Use this time to pursue a personal matter you were too busy to deal with before. You'll find it will be time well spent.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You still need to be on the alert for any signs of problems that could create serious misunderstandings. A more positive aspect begins to emerge toward the week's end. Be patient.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) With things slowing down a bit this week, it would be a good time for luxury-loving Leonines to go somewhere for some well-earned pampering. Things liven up around Friday.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Single Virgos looking for partners are finally getting a break from Venus, who has moved in to make things happen. Attached Virgos see their relationships blossom.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You've been working hard to get things done. Now take a breather and recheck your next step. You might want to make some changes in view of the news that comes your way.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) The watchword for savvy Scorpios this week is "preparation." Consider sharpening your skills to make the most of the new opportunity you're about to take on.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) There might still be some loose ends that need tucking up if you hope to get that important relationship repaired. A new spurt of activity starts soon.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) It's a good idea to keep the positive momentum going by finding and getting rid of anything that could cause you to stumble. Keep the path ahead clear and open.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A period of contemplation is advised before you make your next move. Be sure that where you decide to go is the right place for you. A health matter needs attention.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) That new energy surge that hit you last week continues to send out good vibrations. Try investing a part of it in creating something noteworthy on the job.

BORN THIS WEEK: You like to balance your personal universe, and in doing so, you help bring harmony into the lives of the rest of us.

region to raise funds to protect clean water. Cyclists can sign up for the Watershed Ride at savebuzzardsbay.org/ride.

"Cycling is the perfect mode of transportation to enjoy the natural beauty of our region, and the Buzzards Bay Coalition has created the perfect venue for cyclists to support the very areas they are riding by," said Peter Pereira, an avid cyclist who lives in New Bedford. "The Watershed Ride is a great opportunity to support an organization that has our area's greater natural good in mind."

Whether you're a serious cyclist like Pereira or a more casual rider, you'll enjoy the Ride's gorgeous scenery through coastal villages, farmlands, working waterfront, and colorful cranberry bogs. With a lunch stop, water and snack stations along the course, and on-the-road repair technicians available at call, all riders can feel safe and fully supported.

There are four distances to choose from: a 100-mile century ride that begins at Sakonnet Point in Rhode Island; a 75-mile route that begins at Horseneck Beach in Westport; a 35-mile route that begins at Eastover Farm in Rochester; and an 11-mile family route down the Shining Sea Bikeway in Falmouth. All routes end at a waterfront finish line party in the heart of Woods Hole village on Cape Cod complete with food, drinks, live music, and free massages for riders.

Tom Gidwitz of Dartmouth insists that anyone who enjoys bicycling can complete the 35-mile route with a few weeks' training. "It's not just for people who are out every weekend riding," said Gidwitz, who has participated in every Watershed Ride since the event began in 2007. "You can work up to it, finish the course, and have a feeling of accomplishment. And when you get to the end, there's plenty of good food and beer!"

Many riders also form teams with their friends and families, like Team South Coast Almanac, made up of nine members from the new Southcoast-based lifestyle magazine. Together, team members put their cycling skills to work to raise thousands of dollars for Buzzards Bay.

Each rider raises a minimum of $300, but many participants set loftier fundraising goals. All funds

Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency, which then allocates funds to each community.

This year, the Marion Cultural Council will distribute $4,400 in grants. Previously funded projects include: a STEM field trip for local Cub Scouts; Elizabeth Tabor Summer Reading Programs; Marion COA "An Evening with Robert Frost"; Marion Natural History Museum Exploring New England Stone Walls; Tri-County Music Association, Inc. Concert Series; and many other local projects that benefit the residences of Marion.

To ensure the council is funding priorities of the community, a community input survey will be available to residences in Marion. This survey will be reviewed before the committee votes on this year's grant proposals. Please be sure your voice is heard.

The Massachusetts Cultural Council has announced the grant application process has moved online and paper applications will no longer be accepted. Application forms and more information about the Local Cultural Council Program are available online at www.mass-culture.org. For local guidelines and complete information on the Marion Cultural Council, contact Kristen Saint Don-Campbell at 508-748-3129 or MarionCulturalCouncil@gmail.com.

REGAIN Addiction Support Group

The REGAIN addiction support group ministry originated from the experiences of individuals feeling led to serve in poor inner-city churches of Southeastern Massachusetts. Finding there was an incredible need for resources, prayer, love and compassion, this 501(c)(3) faith-based ministry was founded. REGAIN does not provide any addiction recovery services for the addict. Its purpose is to form a support network for families and individuals affected by the addiction of a loved one. This is accomplished by helping people REGAIN hope, healing, trust, and power over their lives from the support of others living with the same struggles and difficulties. The REGAIN addiction support group SM meetings are faith-based, observing a no-blame, no-shame policy with all conversations respectfully kept confidential. There is no cost for attending and regional resource materials are provided on recovery programs, family services, education, and faith-based options. Topic demonstrations and trainings are hosted frequently, and prayer is available and voluntary for those needing comfort and strength.

Current REGAIN addiction support group SM meeting location: Mattapoisett (For residents of Mattapoisett, Marion, and Rochester), Council on Aging

Room (Center School Building), 17 Barstow Street, Mattapoisett, on the 1st and 3rd Tuesday from 6:00 - 7:30 pm.

SHERMAN'S LAGOON
by J.P. Toomey

According to Council Members, these grants can support a variety of artistic projects and activities in Rochester and surrounding areas – including exhibits, festivals, field trips, short-term artist residencies, or performances in schools, workshops, and lectures.

The Rochester Cultural Council is part of a network of 329 Local Cultural Councils serving all 351 cities and towns in the Commonwealth.

This year, the Rochester Cultural Council will distribute about $4400 in grants. Previously funded projects include: author visits at Rochester Memorial School, the Rochester COA's Community Thank You Event, the New Bedford Symphony Orchestra's school assemblies, and the Rochester Historical Society's 10th Annual Grammar School Reunion Music Program.

Once an application is approved, the grantee should complete the project as outlined in their original application, acknowledge their funding from the LCC and MCC, and then request reimbursement. Grant recipients have one year from the date of their approval letter to request reimbursement. Approval and denial letters will be communicated via email by the Rochester Cultural Council.

For local guidelines and complete information on the Rochester Cultural Council, contact us at 508-763-3871 ext.10 or RochesterCulturalCouncil@gmail.com. Application forms and more information about the Local Cultural Council Program are available online at www.mass-culture.org.
